7 Laws of the Universe

Law of Gestation:

Everything takes time to manifest. There is a natural order to things.

Nothing is ever created or destroyed; rather, all new things are a result of something that already exists. There is a gestation period to the creation of everything, and therefore a correct time and place for everything to happen.

- Business: Most people give up way too easily. They give up before the gestation period has taken place. This is the equivalent to digging up bulbs before the flower.
